2019 SPWLA Annual Symposium

President's Corner

Dear members of the Houston Chapter,

Our key event in April has been the Petrophysical Data-Driven Analytics: Theory and Applications Spring Topical conference, co-chaired by SPWLA International and SPWLA-Houston Chapter. The event was sold out and a few participants were able to connect online to participate remotely. After each day of the conference there were panel discussions on the topics of the day that lead to some fruitful conclusions and guidance on the further issues and challenges that need to be tackled by the industry in the area of petrophysical data. The summary to the discussion will be summarized and published in SPWLA International online magazine.

The Houston Chapter had won the bid to hold 60th SPWLA Annual Symposium in Houston. It will take place at the Marriott Hotel in The Woodlands, June 16-19, 2019. The official announcement will be done at the Annual Symposium in London.

On May 30-31, Data Driven Drilling and Production meeting will take place. The Chapter has been an informational sponsor and as a member you can use the discount code (see event details in this Newsletter) to receive a 20% off the registration fee. The event is featuring industry leaders and experts and promises to be very insightful.

The 2017-2018 season is coming to an end and we held several great events and luncheons this past year. It's been a great journey for me to stay and serve the chapter these past years and contribute to the petrophysics knowledge sharing and introduction of additional educational events, both in soft and technical skills. I am confident that incoming board with continue and improve and introduce new traditions that will be of use and benefit to the membership.

Please consider volunteering with the chapter, either for the elective board position or as a volunteer for the annual symposium – there are always plenty of things to be done, we only lack people and the time to do it!

We always appreciate members feedback and are open to suggestions. You can reach out to any chapter board member and they will share it to the rest of the board.

As always feel free to contact me or the future president if you have any questions or comments at president@spwla-houston.org.

Kind regards,
Irina Borovskaya
President 2016-2018
Houston Chapter of SPWLA
